Machine Translated by Google

OUR WAY

NEW POLITICS FOR THE NEW TIME

Machine Translated by Google

Nordfront Publishing House, Box 52, 772 22
Grängesberg Responsible publisher:
Emil Hagberg Printed in Estonia, March 2017 ISBN: 978-91-983033-4-6, Edition: 1.02

Machine Translated by Google

Content

PREFACE 4

POINT 1 8
Stop mass immigration 8
Initiate repatriation 9
Ethnic Northern European or closely related people 10
Foreign aid and on-site assistance 11
The Nordic region's future immigration policy 11

POINT 2 13
The Global Zionist Elite 13
In the long term 14
Going against their world order 14

POINT 3 15
United we are strong 15
Local differences 16
Self-sufficient state 16
Nationalize the monetary infrastructure 17
Abolish interest 18

POINT 4 19
The state is the people – the people are the state 19
Citizenship 20
Today's "democracy" 20
Hereditary power and monarchy 21
The governance of the future 23
Freedom of expression and civil liberties 25

POINT 5 26
Laws against anti-people propaganda 26
Public transparency and participation 27

ITEM 6 29
A sustainable planet 29
Animal issues 30
A natural life 31
We own nature together 31
Biological diversity 32

ITEM 7 34
Labor policy 35
Social safety net and general welfare 36
Public interest 36
Private enterprise 37
Research, innovative spirit and culture 38
School and education 38
Family policy and the role of women 40
Pension 42
Fiscal policy 43

ITEM 8 45
A strong Nordic region against foreign threats 45
One man, one gun 47
Civil defense 47

ITEM 9 49
Equality before the law 49
Impartial courts 50
Laws against anti-people sentiment 51
Crime and punishment 52

AFTERWORD 55

OWN NOTES 57

Machine Translated by Google

PREFACE

This party program was written over a number of intensive months at the end of 2015. It was written by the four people who at the time constituted The Nordic Resistance Movement's National Council in Sweden. Each National Council member has been assigned the subject areas that best correspond to their expertise and the points have then been discussed in groups during several meetings. The work was led by the organization's leader, Simon Lindberg.

However, significantly more people than that have been involved in the process. When the National Council considered the work to be complete, the program was sent out for review to deputy leaders, long-standing members of the organization and a few other selected party members, who have made objections and suggestions that the National Council has then taken a position on. Leading figures in Norway and Finland have also reviewed the content and provided comments.

The result is a very thoroughly prepared party program in which literally every word has been spoken. It is also a comprehensive work in which both the realpolitik aspirations of the Nordic resistance movement and the National Socialist worldview really come into their own.

During the process, we have set a number of goals that we have strived towards. One of these goals is to make the program easy to understand where we explain much of what we want to achieve but still do it in a concise and to the point way. We have strived for each sentence to be understood by everyone but at the same time have a deeper meaning that reveals an underlying vision. To further clarify the message, we have structured the nine points and their respective subsections in such a way that they begin with a problem statement that is later answered in subsequent text and bullet form.

A second goal is that we wanted to make sure that we did not promise too much. We certainly do not want to be associated with politicians who sell a message and promise improvements to all groups in society. It is true that it is precisely National Socialism, with the people's community and the cooperation of the different social groups for common goals as a basis, that could promise improvements in all areas and for all groups. But when the changes are as extensive as they are described in the program, there is every reason to stop and think a few extra times about what we can or cannot promise. Where we promise extensive changes, we have had long discussions that revolved around questions such as "is this practically possible?" In uncertain cases, such as the six-hour

Machine Translated by Google

We have chosen to formulate ourselves as if we are striving for this but that it depends on other factors.

A third goal is that we wanted to develop a revolutionary and progressive party program that both breathes and outlines a new policy for a new era. It can be said here that we have consciously avoided looking back in history and that we have not copied any other party program at any time. Nor have we wanted the party program to contain defense-oriented policies with an excessive focus on security issues, crime prevention and other things that belong to the blue-yellow nationalism and conservative ideology. This party program essentially presents a vision for the future. It is a result of the ideas and experiences collected by the Nordic Resistance Movement over 20 years. Our focus has always been on current and future challenges and on charting the path ourselves instead of following in old footsteps. Especially since many of these old, tried-and-tested paths are now outdated, lack attraction value and have fundamentally been unsuccessful.

Why does our path constitute a new policy for a new era? First, the National Socialist worldview, which is the basis of our policy, is a new ideology in a historical context. Formulated by people like the Swedish statesman Rudolf Kjellén in the early 20th century, and then practiced and developed in Germany a decade or so later, we can definitely speak of a political outlook that is considerably newer than social democracy, liberalism or, for that matter, the 18th-century nationalism to which many of today's nationalists seek refuge. In our
In our eyes, National Socialism, during the short period it held power in Germany, is the only force that has seriously threatened the destructive forces that today rule the world and have driven the genocidal policy towards the Nordic and ethnic European peoples since 1945. National Socialism was designated as the main enemy because it constituted a survival strategy for our race and because it succeeded in giving the eternal laws of nature a political form in the present.

Our path, however, differs from the German one. Our National Socialism is more inspired by the Dane Povl Riis-Knudsen and his thoughts during the post-war period. about National Socialism as a biological view and a holistic solution to the problems of living we see in the world today. In our time, it is not primarily states or social systems that are threatened. Instead, it is today our race as well as all of humanity that is threatened by the inhuman and parasitic forces that control and prey on nature and all its populations – animals and humans.
Issues related to mass immigration and "multiculturalism", but also so-called green issues, with a focus on ecosystems and biodiversity, are therefore in focus in the policy formulated by the Nordic Resistance Movement.

Machine Translated by Google

Today we have a perfect soil for advancing a new political form of the National Socialist worldview that focuses on the great questions of destiny. Except for the few who are deeply indoctrinated, it is no secret to today's people that man lives in the wrong way, is unhappy and has fundamentally lost his compass. "Democracy", with all that it implies, still beats its chest and claims its infallibility despite being responsible for having created the living conditions of modern man. It is an undeniable fact that it is liberal democracy that has given us endless wars and refugee flows, environmental destruction and predatory practices, exploitation of resources and people, multiculturalism and mass immigration. In addition, it has paved the way for a small financial elite that rules the world and keeps people and nations as slaves. It is our conviction that in a time when everything is put to the test, and where more and more people are asking questions like "where are we?" and "where are we going?", as a National Socialist worldview will have greater impact than closely related ideologies that are limited to immigration issues and other symptoms of decay.

As a further step in a new policy for a new era, the party program presents a geopolitical solution for a united Nordic region. We are not talking here about some revived former union under Swedish sovereignty, but about a Nordic state with equal conditions for all the Nordic peoples. A united Nordic region that should be self-sufficient and able to assert itself militarily, economically and culturally in the uncertain times we now live in. A small and unprotected nation like Sweden would certainly have a very difficult time in a national takeover, our goal must therefore be to create a united and strong force in a multipolar world. A united and people-preserving Nordic region is a prerequisite for the racial and cultural survival of all the Nordic peoples.

In addition to a total stop to immigration and a repatriation policy, the Nordic Resistance Movement will make significant changes in defense, the environment and labor policy, where every able-bodied citizen will have a job. The Nordic Resistance Movement will also nationalize the monetary infrastructure, abolish interest slavery and leave the current financial order in order to reclaim the resources of the state and citizens from the banking elite. Overall, this would mean that we break away from the global Zionism that controls the Western world, which is a strong reason why the Nordics need to be able to assert themselves militarily and have other allies in the world.

When such revolutionary changes are presented as they are in this party program, we can be sure that hostile propaganda will dismiss them as daydreams and point to details without seeing the whole. Overall, there is for example, there are great economic gains to be made when we stop immigration and break free from the current financial order. We are aware that extensive changes regarding, for example, immigration policy or the economy will be seen by some as "impossible" to implement. An economist who has been brought up by the system will very reluctantly and at a very late stage admit that there are alternatives to a policy of perpetual growth – something that in itself is a de facto impossibility. And a supporter of democracy and human rights will of course say that it is impossible to stop immigration and repatriate those who have already become citizens. To this we can only reply that there are other economic experts than those approved by the system and that conventions and treaties that are supposed to guarantee mass immigration and population exchange, signed by the lackeys of the current system, will no longer apply when the Nordic state is formed.

Machine Translated by Google

Our path is now laid out in a thorough and comprehensive party program that is revolutionary and forward-looking. We have taken some of the first steps for a new geopolitics for the entire Nordic region and presented a modern and adapted form of National Socialism, which we could call Nordic National Socialism. Our politics will henceforth develop with this party program as a template.

In conclusion, this program is by no means just for Sweden and the Swedes – on the contrary, the document will eventually be translated into all Nordic languages and also into English. We know that this policy, with some local adjustments, would be perfectly suitable for most of the world's nations and that all of humanity would be significantly more prosperous if more people embraced our ideals.

Fredrik Vejdeland, 2015-11-22

Machine Translated by Google

1.

Immediately stop mass immigration. Repatriation of the majority of all those who are not ethnic Northern Europeans or closely related peoples should begin as soon as possible. They should be returned to their respective home countries or areas close to them in the most humane manner possible.

Our racial survival and freedom is the most important goal of the Nordic resistance movement's political struggle. There are many threats to this, the most alarming and urgent of which today is the mass immigration of racially alien people to the Nordic countries. This, combined with lower birth rates among Nordic women than immigrants and the fact that even the immigrant foreigners sometimes have children with Nordic women and men, means that the ethnically Nordic population is decreasing more and more in relation to the non-Nordic population.

In plain language, so-called multiculturalism and mass immigration mean physical displacement and genocide of the Nordic population.

The Nordic peoples have historically lived separated from the intrusion of foreign races and have therefore essentially preserved a unique gene set, culture and community-building spirit. The difference from other races on earth can be seen in the appearance of the Nordic peoples but goes much deeper than the purely visual. Traits such as cooperation, ingenuity, a sense of order, loyalty to duty and altruism have been shaped over thousands of years of racial separation.

Mass immigration is a major burden on our welfare society, it increases crime and creates cultural clashes, but all of these are really only very small problems compared to if our people were to cease to exist. Our race and immigration policy is not about hatred or oppression - it is about survival and what is best for our people. If the Nordic peoples die out, it's totally irreversible.

Stop mass immigration

Millions of foreign people are in the Nordic countries and more are pouring in all the time. For Sweden, this has meant that the population has increased by several percent of foreign people. Whether this is mass immigration or not is no longer even open to discussion.

Since 1975, forces hostile to the Nordic region have deliberately sanctioned an immigration without regard to the cultural and racial differences of the Nordic peoples 1975 was the year when the decision was made to make Sweden multicultural, without popular support, as a result of extensive lobbying, disguised as debate, in Jewish-owned media in Sweden.

Machine Translated by Google

Mass immigration is indeed a demographic problem and some analysts claim that Swedes will be a minority in Sweden within 10-15 years. We believe that merely restricting immigration will only postpone the problem.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Introduce a total stop to all non-Nordic immigration. This applies without exception, at least until the repatriation process is completed.

- Considerably strengthen border controls into the Nordic countries. This is also necessary useful for stopping crime and human trafficking across the country's borders.

Initiate repatriation

It is the survival and gene pool of the total population that must be secured. A small number of people of foreign race would not harm it in general. However, mass immigration has already reached such proportions that it would be impossible to make the Nordic region a healthy nation again by simply stopping immigration and then allowing the racial aliens who are already within the Nordic borders to remain. A return of the majority of all those who are not ethnic Northern Europeans or of closely related peoples must be initiated as soon as possible after immigration has been stopped.

The state arranges transportation, if possible back to the country of origin or to the nearest country that is peaceful and willing to receive the people.
Exceptions to forced repatriation may be made in special cases where there is a direct medical risk to the individual being moved, for adoptees, mixed-race people and those born in the Nordic countries without any family or connection to their ancestral country of origin. People who have been of great help to the people of the Nordic countries may be appointed honorary citizens and allowed to remain. Any people who will be allowed to remain in the country will never constitute such a number that they threaten the long-term survival of our people.

Machine Translated by Google

A return of foreign people would also be positive for the countries or regions they come from. The enormous foreign expertise that politicians believe is coming here is at the same time what drains their own countries of vital knowledge. We might as well accuse our so-called elected officials of a neo-colonialism where they suck out expertise from vulnerable countries just to "enrich" our own country. Brain surgeons and civil engineers are needed to an even greater extent in these countries.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Establish a state institute that will work effectively by using modern genetic profiling to racially assess all people who have been granted Swedish citizenship after 1975 and their descendants. Those who came before 1975 can lose citizenship if they are convicted of anti-national activities.

- Immediately begin the repatriation of the majority of racial aliens within the Nordic borders. This should be done in the most humane manner possible so as not to cause more suffering than necessary.

Ethnic Northern European or closely related people

That there are different human races, with not only different appearances but also different mental qualities such as intelligence, character and personality traits, is absolutely proven by both scientific research and common sense. Our opposition to immigration is based primarily on racial politics as we wish to preserve our people. Our goal is not first and foremost to create a completely pure Nordic race but rather to preserve the Nordic peoples as they appear today, where the Nordic racial type is a dominant feature of the Nordic gene pool.

As racial research has been taboo in the Nordic countries since 1945, we unfortunately suffer from a lack of modern and concrete racial concepts, which means that race deniers today can continue to spread the lie that there are no human races. In reality, in most cases it is completely obvious who is of Nordic origin or closely related. In more doubtful cases, we could use modern genetic profiling to determine which people are of predominantly Nordic racial origin. Those who will be allowed to stay in the Nordic countries include all Northern European ethnicities, most of the Central and Eastern European ethnicities, parts of the Southern European ethnicities and those with Northern European origin in o world. Thus we see that the majority of indigenous peoples in the so-called Western world would be allowed to remain in the Nordic countries with full civil rights regardless of when they entered the country.

Machine Translated by Google

Foreign aid and on-site assistance

The distribution of nature's resources across the world is not fair. Nor are climate and natural disasters evenly distributed. Provided that it does not happen at the expense of the basic needs of our own people, we view a Nordic aid policy positively, provided that certain ethical rules are followed by the country that wants help. For example, we would not be able to help countries that did not pursue a responsible environmental policy under their own circumstances. Nor would we be helpful to state formations that consciously acted in contrast to the fundamental principles of National Socialism through, for example, uncontrolled population growth or racial mixing.

In addition to helping with humanitarian efforts in disaster areas, we can also be helpful in diplomatically, or in the worst case, militarily, combating imperialist states that wage war on sovereign states, which is what creates refugee disasters throughout the world.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Secure the basic needs of the Nordic peoples before we lay down our resources in other countries.

- Pursue a generous aid policy, if possible, for countries that follow the ethical rules set by our future state.

- Assist with humanitarian efforts in disaster areas and counteract imperialism.

The Nordic countries' future immigration policy After mass immigration has been stopped and the repatriation process is complete, we could open up the Nordic borders somewhat again. Then controlled immigration could be allowed from closely related peoples. The free Nordic countries could also provide asylum to fellow-race people around the world who are persecuted because of their racial origin or political views.

Machine Translated by Google

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Pursue a responsible immigration policy that does not risk damaging our Nordic racial composition.

- Grant asylum to relatives who are subjected to persecution in our world.

Machine Translated by Google

2.

With all available means, in the long term, work to retake power from the global Zionist elite that has economically and militarily occupied most of our world.

The entire global monetary infrastructure in the world is controlled by a relatively few people. These people are in no way elected, their power is inherited and they ensure that this power is retained at all costs within the same sphere of power.
It can be simply said that our world is controlled by hidden powers that we have not elected and who do not wish us well. At best, they see us as a kind of slaves in their world order.

Because this self-appointed elite has long controlled most of the world's money flows and credit creation, they have been able to buy everything that gives real power. Part of these ruthless power interests is that they have, for a very long time, usurped control over major war potential and the mass media.
The Nordic Resistance Movement wants to make these few parasites on humanity completely powerless. Power should be transferred from them to the parliaments and leaders of the various countries.

The Global Zionist Elite

The goal of the global Zionists today is not only to promote the state of Israel but also to work long-term for instability in all nations that could become a threat to their power structure. This includes not least the ethnically homogeneous Western countries. All global Zionists thus work for multiculturalism and mass immigration, but also for other societal-disintegrating tendencies such as liberalism and norm-dissolving cultural Marxism.

Jewish racism has been formulated for thousands of years in Jewish religious scriptures and lifestyles. From the books of Moses to contemporary Jewish statesmen, rabbis and ideologists such as Ariel Sharon, Ovadia Yosef and Barbara Specter, the Jewish people have been described as God's chosen people with a special right to world domination. Non-Jews are also included in the global Zionist elite for religious or egoistic reasons. It should be pointed out here that not all Jews are Zionists and that there are even those among them who oppose the Zionist quest for power.

Machine Translated by Google

In the long term

Retaking power from the elite that currently rules is not something that can be done in a flash. An important step is to inform and spread the truth about what is happening. This work has already been initiated by the Nordic Resistance Movement and will be intensified with all available means once we have reached power.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Disseminate information within the Nordic region so that the entire population deeply understands how the Zionists work to destabilize and divide.

- Disseminate information to the world that illuminates the Zionists' shadow of light activities to get more states to take a stand.

- Build alternatives to all hostile infrastructure, businesses, cultural in- punches etc.

- Prohibit malicious and secret societies engaged in subversive activities.

Going against their world order

In modern history, all states that have tried to stand outside the prevailing world order have been at war. This is also something that the new Nordic countries must reckon with in the worst case. We must therefore ally ourselves in this fight with other states that want to break free from modern global slavery. Many have already seen through these injustices. We are convinced that we also have allies who have not yet made themselves known.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Ally ourselves with states and other actors who can be helpful in to overthrow this global world order.

- Ensure that an attack on the new Nordic region will immediately result in fatal consequences. consequences for the enemy.

Machine Translated by Google

3.

Together with the other Nordic countries, create a Nordic self-sufficient state with a common defense, common currency and central bank, common overarching laws and regulations. This also means immediate withdrawal from the European Union and any similar anti-people associations.

The Nordic region primarily consists of Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden. The similarities in origin, culture, language, temperament and geographical location are as if made for a successful merger. One could say that the differences that separate the countries are no more foreign than, for example, those between Dalarna and Gästrikland. Although the folk art separates these landscapes, they are not negatively affected by their proximity. The same would apply to the countries in the Nordic region. If we cannot unite under a people-preserving regime, the Nordic region and its people will cease to exist.

A united Nordic region would secure the independence of the Nordic peoples and make it easier for the Nordic peoples to survive racially and culturally. A united Nordic defense would also be able to stand strong against hostile forces in the world.

United we are strong

Today, Sweden, Finland and Denmark are members of the European Union, which means that these countries have moved a number of important decisions from their own parliaments to careerists and globalists in Brussels. Since the purpose of the EU project is to bring all of Europe into the Zionist world order, it is our duty to break this unholy alliance as soon as possible.

Sweden is far too small a unit to stand independently in a world that will pose a direct threat to the freedom of our people for many years to come. Therefore, it is imperative that we join forces with the other Nordic nations.
The Nordic Resistance Movement intends to wage the struggle in all Nordic countries in order to enable a popular uprising to take place at approximately the same time.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Immediately demand withdrawal from the European Union and similar anti-people associations.

Machine Translated by Google

• Unite the Nordic countries into one state.

• Ensure that the united Nordic region will be able to assert itself militarily, economically and culturally.

Local differences

All Nordic countries will retain their respective languages. The unique intra-Nordic cultural spheres will be protected. Minorities such as the Sami and Inuit will also be allowed to retain their culture and ethnicity. Regional laws may remain, but they must be based on a pan-Nordic constitution.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Write a pan-Nordic constitution.

• Encourage local (regional) governance of local issues.

• Highlight Nordic culture, our history and local characteristics.

Self-sufficient state

The Nordic Resistance Movement is not opposed to imports in principle, but on the contrary sees opportunities to trade in goods and services from friendly nations.
However, the free Nordic region should be so self-sufficient that we never end up in a position of dependence on the outside world.

The Nordic region is rich in natural resources such as forests, fertile arable land, mining deposits, fishing waters, gas and oil. We must manage the resources we have to manage in our geographical area well. In relation to our population, we have rich assets, but we must never burden nature more than it can handle. The Nordic region must produce more food than its population needs. The surplus can be used in barter trade with other countries, exported or stored in emergency stocks. Furthermore, there must be an extensive domestic industry that produces what we need.

For example, the Nordic region can have its own steel industry, textile industry, automotive industry, electronics industry, etc.

Nordic products should be known for being of the best quality and produced with consideration for the producers' working environment and nature. Our products should not have a planned short lifespan to maximize economic profit, unlike today, but on the contrary be designed to last as long as possible.

Machine Translated by Google

possible. This, together with an expanded spare parts market, will benefit both consumers and nature. The conscious consumer will choose Nordic products knowing that the product is produced in an ethical and environmentally friendly way. Positioning necessary industry in the Nordic region will completely eliminate unemployment.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Have a Nordic self-sufficiency rate of over 100%.

• Have a vibrant countryside for meat and grain production

• Introduce a customs duty on all imported goods that can be produced in the Nordic countries.

• Create a developed modern basic industry that meets the needs of our people.

Nationalize the monetary infrastructure

The current banking system (fractional-reserve banking) gives privately owned banks the opportunity to create credit, that is, money out of thin air that does not yet exist. Of the money that circulates in our financial system, the majority is created in this way. Money today is just numbers in computer systems, only about 3 percent exists as physical money. There is no real value that corresponds to the amount of money in circulation. The state and above all the people's control of this system is basically zero. This entire construction is a complicated way of depriving the countries of the world, but also private individuals, of resources for the interests of the banking elite. The financial order that has prevailed must be fundamentally changed.

The Nordic state shall have its own state-controlled central bank that has the sole right to create new money for circulation in our economic system. The money that circulates shall correspond to the Nordic region's total production potential and work input, the parameters included in this calculation shall be completely transparent to the people. Trade cooperation shall be initiated immediately with other free states that have left the Zionist financial order. The Nordic region shall not, as it does today, borrow money for its welfare. Living in luxury in the short term and letting our children and grandchildren pay for it in the future is not in line with our national social istic values.

Machine Translated by Google

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Leave the current financial system.

• Introduce a state-controlled central bank with a monopoly on manufacturing money.

Abolish interest

Interest slavery is fundamentally unhealthy because it involves taking from the poor and giving to the rich. In practice, the system means that those who already have large sums of money are rewarded with interest, while those who have little are forced to pay interest. It is even worse when, as is the case today, interest is levied in several stages, which means that the average citizen pays high interest rates as a significant part of their monthly payments. Interest is a way for the destructive financial forces to steal from the people.

Instead of interest, the Nordic Resistance Movement intends to introduce a withholding tax. Those who keep significant capital out of circulation will pay a tax to the state. This is to promote production and trade, which promotes a healthy and viable economy. How the details of this are designed must be preceded by empirical studies and adapted to the current situation.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Abolish interest.

• Introduce a withholding tax for those who keep significant capital out of circulation.

Machine Translated by Google

4.

Introduce a strong state with a distinct popular government. Positions of responsibility shall be assigned according to competence and the state's goal shall be to work primarily for the well-being and preservation of the people. Freedom of expression shall be extensive.

The general expectations of the state and its tasks today are often reduced to maintaining law and order, collecting taxes and to some extent ensuring that society is fair. Our National Socialist view of the state means that these tasks are subordinate to the more important function of ensuring that our Nordic peoples survive and develop. This must be the state's absolute most primary goal, because if our race is destroyed, neither law and order, justice nor anything else will matter.

A common misconception, created by extensive propaganda over decades, is that we, the proponents of the National Socialist worldview, are for dictatorship and against democracy. We are undoubtedly opposed to much of what has come to be associated with the word democracy in recent decades, such as mass immigration, feminism and anti-nationalism, but in our future society, popular rule, civic co-determination, freedom of association and freedom of expression are self-evident concepts.

In today's Nordic countries, the different parties are just different sides of the same coin, as on really important and big issues they only represent the anti-people policies that the mass media and the banking system have decided for them. This is of course very negative for the people who are really only deceived by a false facade that their vote for one of the various established parties actually makes a difference.

In minor issues, where the different parties actually have different opinions, parliamentary democracy is still bad for the people as the different parties represent different interest groups in society and political work therefore often leads to pointless bickering between the parties rather than leading to real positive change for the people. The Nordic Resistance Movement's future state is authoritarian, but not totalitarian, and works effectively from a helicopter perspective for the good of the whole people.

The state is the people – the people are the state

A state must be adapted to the racial characteristics and culture of its people. A well-functioning statehood in the Nordic countries does not have to be the most excellent in China, Somalia or Brazil. How well-functioning a state is should not be measured primarily in GDP but rather by how it adapts to the well-being and survival of its own people. Since our state today is exterminating its own people, it is as far from a successful state as one can get. In plain language, the state we live in today is criminal and downright insane in nature.

Machine Translated by Google

The state is not an end but a means. It provides the conditions for the creation and, not least, the preservation of culture, but it is not its foundation. Therefore, the prerequisite for the existence of a higher humanity is not the state but the existence of the people who support it. The state of the Nordic resistance movement is not class loyal but racial loyal. It does not intend to make decisions that make it better for the rich at the expense of the poor, better for the young at the expense of the old, better for men at the expense of women - or vice versa - but according to what is best for the people as a whole.

Citizenship Only
citizens have the right to vote in referendums and participate in the governance of the Nordic countries. Authorities and other government activities will almost invariably employ people who are citizens.

A citizen becomes a person whose both parents hold Nordic citizenship or where one holds Nordic citizenship and the other is of a closely related ethnic group. The racially related people who are allowed to immigrate to the Nordic countries in the future will be granted citizenship only after they swear loyalty to the Nordic state.

A few racially alien individuals who have truly distinguished themselves in the fight for the freedom of the Nordic countries may be appointed honorary citizens. Honorary citizens have the same rights as ordinary citizens. Honorary citizens have the right to settle permanently in the Nordic countries with their immediate family.

Persons whose loyalty is deemed to lie with a foreign state with interests that conflict with those of the Nordic countries may be stripped of their Nordic citizenship.

Today's "democracy"

Our attitude towards the concept of democracy is problematic, first and foremost because the word democracy has become synonymous with the current decadent, Zionist-controlled system in the Western world and everything what it stands for. Then democracy becomes the symbol of everything we want to fight.

Machine Translated by Google

The concept of democracy is also in constant change. This concept means something today that it absolutely did not mean 100 or even 50 years ago.
It also means different things in different countries. Very few people living a hundred years ago would have supported democracy if they had known that the word example would mean a mass invasion of racial aliens and that our own people would be pushed out of their own country, or that it would include the right for sexually deviant people to have orgy-like festivals in our streets and a general moral decay.

In today's Sweden, the word democracy has come to be used in the system's propaganda for everything it wants to achieve. Thus, for example, it is today a democratic right for two homosexuals to marry and adopt children. Being against homosexuality as a phenomenon is today equated with being "anti-democratic". In general, propaganda tends to describe everything as undemocratic or anti-democratic that in some way questions current developments.

To be a so-called democrat today is in practice to be a supporter, consciously or unconsciously, of the Zionist self-appointed elite that governs the Western world and the genocidal policies that they pursue.

If this is the true meaning of the word democracy – then we are sworn enemies of it. But that does not mean we are against freedom.
and popular rule or that citizens have legal certainty and the right to co-determination. It should also be added here that our understanding of true democracy is significantly closer to the original idea – primarily democracy in Athens during antiquity – than what the system means by democracy today.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Strive to restore the word democracy to its original and legitimate meaning.
give meaning.

Hereditary power and monarchy

The Nordic Resistance Movement wants to give all citizens born in the future Nordic countries the same opportunities and obligations. Letting power be inherited has been used throughout history by rich and influential families to maintain said power. It is

Machine Translated by Google

This has occurred and continues to occur both within the nobility and the royal family as well as within large corporations, where they have repeatedly shown themselves unwilling to relinquish power beyond the family's control, even when it would have been beneficial to the people, the workers and the company itself.

The phenomenon is primitive, selfish and uncertain because sons of kings or business leaders do not necessarily exhibit the leadership qualities or moral values of their fathers. Allowing power to be inherited is therefore simply fundamentally wrong. In concrete terms, hereditary power within a people means that one fraudulently takes part of the nation's resources as one's own and claims that "it has always been that way" instead of looking at competence and the best interests of the people. These families, privileged by birth, have institutionalized an unwillingness to let their enormous assets benefit the rest of the people, which we cannot possibly accept. It gives the appearance of a clan mentality where certain families perceive their own lineage as superior, and completely deviates from the idea of the people's community that we National Socialists strive for.

Our view of hereditary power should not be confused with that of inheritance rights. Naturally The state should not deprive people of the right to inherit their parents' farms, small businesses, and common household goods. Our restrictions apply to people who inherit power and enormous resources at the expense of the people.

Instead, we strive to optimize the search for competent leaders. We will search for talents from all classes of society, from all backgrounds. We will give all citizens the opportunity to rise to the positions in the state they master and ensure that their skills benefit everyone. Furthermore, we will ensure that the population of the Nordic countries is clearly loyal to their state and race and that everyone understands that this is a prerequisite for creating a progressive and modern state.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Strip the royal houses of their power and their economic and material resources advantages.

- Ensure that government employees are always chosen based on competence and not based on class, family affiliation or personal ties (political nobility).

- Promote a culture where business leaders also consider competence and the well-being of the entire population when appointing people to positions of power.

Machine Translated by Google

The governance of the future

We intend to build a strong state with a strong and competent leadership following a leadership and responsibility principle that ensures the well-being and preservation of the entire people, but where people also The right to co-determination is extensive and where genuine popular democracy is a given.

In concrete terms, our system of government would work in such a way that the leadership of the Nordic Resistance Movement, after taking power, would select an all-Nordic Senate with competent people drawn directly from society and their positions within the civil administration, from companies, scientific institutions and from the Nordic military forces. The senators would thus be chosen from among those who, throughout their lives, have consistently distinguished themselves through merit in society for the good of the people. They would not be career politicians with party loyalties as they are today.

The task of the Senate will then be to elect the leader of the state through a secret ballot. The senators would especially look for a person who has distinguished himself in life, undergone trials and shown great strength of action and good judgment in pressured situations. The person would be of good, firm character and considered unchangeable. The senators' task will also then be to act as ministers and advisors to the elected leader. The Senate will also have the power to remove the leader or individual senators if the situation requires it. When a person from the Senate leaves his post for various reasons, the other people in the Senate will choose a replacement according to the same conditions and benchmarks according to which they themselves were elected.

The leader's task will be to make decisions of major importance, with the help of the Senate. issues that concern the future of the entire people, the country and the state – quickly and efficiently without unnecessary bureaucracy and for the good of the entire people. This individual determination entails a heavy responsibility and the person who makes the decisions is forced to be responsible for it, and later to take the consequences for it, regardless of whether it was a good or bad decision. Thus, we would see a completely different level of responsibility from the head of state than today.

In the free and united Nordic region, we will also create a pan-Nordic parliament. The members of parliament, who will come from all over the Nordic region, will be elected by the people through regular local elections. There will be no need for any party system. The parliament will be the legislative assembly, pursuing political issues and thus being the people's voice to the Senate. The parliament will also have the power to approve the Senate's choice of leader for the Nordic region.

A system similar to Swiss direct democracy will then-except to be introduced by decisive referendums, this to further balance the exercise of power by the Senate and the leader. If the citizens collect a sufficient number of signatures, they shall be able to bring about a referendum on both major and minor issues. A vote of no confidence in the leader shall also be able to be held by referendum.

Machine Translated by Google

It can thus be stated that what we today call fundamental democratic rights would apply, even if today's political parties were to be abolished. As an alternative to today's parties, individuals in parliament, associations and popular movements would have the responsibility to push for political issues.

At the municipal level, the same leadership and responsibility principle will be applied. A municipal strongman or mayor will be elected by the citizens of the municipality. This mayor will then have the opportunity to make decisions on urgent issues that affect the people at the lower and municipal level and will receive great help from the people through referendums where the residents can participate and decide on important things for the future of the municipality.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Elect a pan-Nordic senate with competent people from the people among those who, throughout their lives, have consistently distinguished themselves through merit in society for the good of the people.

- Let the Senate elect a leader for the Nordic state who can effectively and without bureaucratic hassle, with the advice of the Senate, make important decisions that affect the entire people.

- Create a popularly elected pan-Nordic parliament that will be the legislative power in society and the people's voice to the leader.

- Lower politicians' fees to a more reasonable level. The motivation for being a member of parliament or senator should be based on an idealistic view and a real passion for one's people.

- Introduce a system similar to Swiss direct democracy with decisive referendums.

Machine Translated by Google

• As an alternative to today's parties, let individuals in parliament

The government, associations and popular movements have the responsibility to push for political issues.

• At local and regional level, have a similar form of governance with a people- elected mayor and local referendums.

Freedom of expression and civil liberties

There is no state in the entire world that has total freedom of expression. Laws that prohibit threats against individuals and groups, for example, can be seen as restrictions on freedom of expression. In today's "democracy", special laws have also been instituted to protect privileged groups (minorities) and oppress their own population.
An example of this is the law on incitement against an ethnic group, which makes it impossible or very difficult for people to question those in power and their ambitions.

In our new Nordic state, there will be more freedom of expression than today, but with previously mentioned restrictions for, for example, threats against individuals and groups. The law on incitement against ethnic groups will be replaced by laws against anti-national and subversive propaganda and activities. However, these restrictions will primarily apply to institutions with power, such as the media and other opinion-forming activities, not to individuals. Freedom of assembly, association and demonstration will remain, as will freedom of religion.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Tear up the law on incitement against ethnic groups.

• Introduce laws against anti-people, subversive propaganda and activities.

• Secure freedom of expression, assembly, association, demonstration and religion in the North

Machine Translated by Google

5.

That our mass media should be owned by citizens of the new Nordic region. Foreign as well as domestic media that act in an anti-people manner should be banned. Overly concentrated ownership must be counteracted.

In the liberal democracy we live in, it is a so-called freedom that a small and hidden elite of people with commercial and even anti-people interests can own the Swedish media and steer the people's thoughts in the direction they want through a monopoly on the written word. It is a fact that most of the "Swedish" mass media is controlled by agenda Jews, either through family clans like Bonnier or via banks from the USA. It is also a fact that these media moguls, through massive propaganda, indoctrinate the Swedes with multicultural and otherwise subversive and anti-people currents of thought, all to benefit their Zionist interests. Their power must be broken forever if our people are to survive.

Laws against anti-people propaganda

The media propagates mass immigration and integration, lies and withholds information about the consequences of "multiculturalism", and exposes Swedes who protest or try to organize against the genocide as criminals.
In order to confuse and destabilize, the mass media also propagates norm-dissolving cultural Marxism and other subversive ideological currents. In short, the media acts hostilely towards the people, which has disastrous consequences ethnically, culturally and racially. Anti-people propaganda will be illegal under a National Socialist regime.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Create laws against anti-people propaganda. Enable the state to expropriate Swedish media that are acting or have acted anti-people.

- Ensure that only Nordic citizens may own media in the Nordic countries.

- Ensure that media companies and organizations operating abroad but whose anti-people propaganda is spread in the Nordic countries should be classified as foreign agents and banned.

Machine Translated by Google

- Clean up the media. Journalist colleagues who have participated in anti-people propaganda should be suspended from their work and carefully vetted before they can return to journalism with state approval.

- Initiate legal proceedings against those who have been particularly active in the anti-people propaganda. Society will feel better when these individuals are isolated from the people.

Public transparency and participation

Despite the fact that the power of the media is considerably greater than that of politicians, the media's power-holders are in no way elected by the people - nor do the people have any insight into their decisions. As a rule, no one in the media takes any moral responsibility, or is held accountable, for lives destroyed in the pursuit of headlines. In addition, very wealthy people can buy the media and thereby gain power and control over people's minds.
Only someone who lies to themselves or others would call something like that a “democracy.” The Nordic Resistance Movement wants to ensure that the people have both insight and the opportunity to own the media themselves.

Our view of the media is that it is not only a reviewer of power but also a factor of power in itself. Therefore, the principle of openness should also apply to the media.
This applies primarily to the inner life of a media institution, that is, how decisions are made, who finances the operations, etc. However, the principle of publicity should not affect the protection of sources, as informants must have the right to remain anonymous.

We see it as an important principle that the media must be able to scrutinize the government in order to counteract corruption. The media has no right to act hostilely towards the people or the state, but if, for example, a senator has undoubtedly proven corrupt, this must be brought to the attention of the people. This in itself should not be considered anti-people but rather pro-people, since such revelations help to counteract and prevent malpractices within the people's leadership.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Distribute parts of the expropriated media to cooperatives and associations. Promote a diversity of media through government grants.

Machine Translated by Google

- Ensure that the majority of Nordic media is owned by the state, that is say the people. State media shall work for the people. Commercial media may act freely but may not engage in hostile or otherwise subversive propaganda against the people.

- Ensure that the principle of public access, with the exception of protection of sources, also applies to the media. Every individual citizen should be able to scrutinize those who scrutinize.

Machine Translated by Google

6.

Create a modern society in harmony with the laws of nature.

Our animal welfare laws should be developed with an emphasis on ethics instead of profit. Nature and its resources should be used with reason and with the future in mind. The right of public access should be protected.

Common to all the ideologies and systems accepted by those in power today is that they fundamentally deny nature or believe that humans are above it. Both “multiculturalism” and the predatory exploitation of nature by limitless capital resources constitute a violation of the natural order and are ruthlessly punished when nature strikes back. A price that future generations will pay in the form of damaged ecosystems, overpopulation and famine, depleted natural resources, resources etc.

We National Socialists realize that man is a part of nature and therefore must also live in accordance with it and follow its laws. The Nordic Resistance Movement is the only political alternative in the Nordic countries that truly seriously protects nature – even when it comes to biodiversity for man. National Social
The nature-promoting values of the ism must eventually spread throughout the world and radically replace the parasitic approach that man has to nature. Without the national Without the socialist view of man as part of nature, with a special responsibility to care for it, humanity will perish.

A sustainable planet

In the age of liberal democracy, man has turned into a parasitic creature that sucks up the earth's resources, devastates forests and in other ways treats nature carelessly to either nourish his own lifestyle or make rich people even richer. The Nordic Resistance Movement will combat this by taking the lead in the green issues that National Socialism has always cherished. By living naturally and thinking long-term, we can create a sustainable planet for our children and grandchildren as well.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Lead the way for stricter environmental laws.

Machine Translated by Google

- Invest in geoscience and be a leader in the development and application of the conversion of renewable energy to power homes, cars, industry, etc.

- Work to ensure that an eco-minded approach replaces the materialistic "hard work" society".

- Collaborate internationally to achieve this on a broad front.

Animal issues

The Nordic Resistance Movement has an organic view of the world and opposes the prevailing anthropocentric view of animals as automatically inferior beings and mere servants of man. We also consider man as an animal, and as a higher animal we believe that man has a special responsibility not to cause other animals unnecessary suffering and to maintain the balance within nature.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Abolish ritual slaughter such as kosher and halal.

- Increase the penalty for crimes against animals.

- Ban painful animal experiments.

- Work for a healthy hunting and fishing policy where we take what we really need and adapt our lifestyle to nature and not the other way around

- Expand protection for endangered native species that are decreasing in number every day due to human impact.

- Maintain and tighten Sweden's animal welfare laws. What is currently certified breed that should be seen as the lowest acceptable level ecologically. Stricter requirements for animal husbandry, including for pets and wild animals in captivity.

- Ensure that children develop a respect and understanding for nature from an early age and adopt a holistic approach to it. Children should grow up to be caretakers, not parasites, of nature.

Machine Translated by Google

A natural life

The big city should be the home primarily of the political, financial and military elite as well as of trade and industry. However, large urban cities are not a healthy living environment for people in general as they degenerate and alienate people from both nature and other people (which also weakens the community). The Nordic Resistance Movement will work to encourage Nordic residents to live in such a way that they have free access to nature and the opportunity for their own cultivation, and thus some self-sufficiency in the event of a crisis.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Build townhouse areas with larger green spaces on the outskirts of big cities and create better and free commuting opportunities for those who live in rural areas but work in cities.
- Work for a vibrant rural area. Favor small businesses that operate in sparsely populated areas and decentralize large parts of community services such as schools, nursing, cultural, recreational and sports facilities. are
- Stop exploitation of Nordic forests. The forest, like other In a healthy society, natural resources should not be used as an inexhaustible resource where the only goal is profit maximization.
- Combat the industrialization of agriculture and animal husbandry. Strict bans on GMOs, artificial fertilizers and chemical pesticides.
- Promote small-scale agriculture. The more people who can provide themselves with food, the better.

We own nature together

We Nordics should be proud that we have the right of public access in all Nordic countries (except Denmark), which is not at all a given in the rest of the world where it often does not exist or is more limited. In the right of public access, we see an important socialist principle that nature is for everyone. That private individuals will be able to own land is a given, but they should see themselves as primarily managers, not owners, of nature.

Machine Translated by Google

We will revise the current Nature Conservation Act and implement stricter and additional provisions where necessary. Among other things, the legislation must be clearer about how nature can be defended from commercial interests.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Protect the right of public access and introduce it throughout the Nordic region.

- Make it clear that the right of way does not only entail rights but also obligations. Impact on forests and land should be taken seriously and there should also be an obligation to report irregularities in nature.

- Vigorously combat illegal commercial exploitation or other exploitation of nature.

- Work for stronger laws that will benefit the biological and geological diversity.

- Take measures to ensure that municipalities take the environment into account when commercial interests want to establish themselves in natural areas. Significant changes to the landscape must have permission from a central nature conservation authority.

Biological diversity

Through the recognition of humans as part of nature, we must also realize that humans cannot be exempt from nature's law of biodiversity.
No truly green party can support “multiculturalism” because this genocidal ideology is the exact opposite of biological diversity and evolutionary development. We promote a world of free nations where races live separately from each other but can still cooperate and where each people and each race develops according to its own conditions and in harmony with nature. Mass

Immigration, "multiculturalism" and forced integration must be crushed so that the earth's diversity and richness can survive.

The Nordic Resistance Movement takes a serious view of invasions of alien species that have unnaturally established themselves in Nordic nature, as these pose a threat to populations, the ecosystem and biological diversity.

Machine Translated by Google

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Take strong action against alien species that have unnaturally established themselves in Nordic nature so that their harmful effects on our native fauna can be minimized.

- Combat "multiculturalism" and instead promote biodiversity for humans as well.

Machine Translated by Google

7.

Introduce a national socialist society where resources are distributed so that we take care of the whole people, both the strong and the weak, and where everyone should have the opportunity to reach their full potential. There should be a social safety net that gives citizens rights, but also obligations. The state should control basic infrastructure of public interest as this requires greater responsibility than a company can handle. At the same time, entrepreneurship and a spirit of innovation should

The national socialism that the Nordic Resistance Movement represents differs significantly from the international and Marxist socialism that the commune ism and social democracy stand behind and have brought to the fore in the Nordic countries. Our socialism is national and is based on the people's community and not class struggle. In our society, intellectuals and well-educated people as well as manual laborers, those from more affluent families as well as those from poorer circumstances, those from the elite of society as well as the weak and vulnerable, will work for the common goals of the people.

Community must also replace materialism and individualism.
ism that prevails among the people today. “What is best for the people” must replace liberalism’s “what is best for me” and Marxism’s “what is best for my social group.” All people have a place to fill for the good of the people.
A society without mechanics or farmers would be at least as worthless as a society without civil engineers or economists.

National socialism is also not about lowering everyone to the same lowest level according to "everyone's equal value" but instead about recognizing that people are different and making the best use of everyone's unique skills. The Nordic resistance movement thus strives for a revolutionary transformation in the entire people's way of thinking through changes in several areas that together lead towards this goal. A prerequisite for this community of people is first a dismantling of today's multi-ethnic society, as a mixture of races and cultures in itself creates its own social groups with their own (ethnic) special interests.

Machine Translated by Google

Labor policy

All people have both the right and the obligation to work. Work is about so much more than just making money, it is also about having one's social needs met and feeling valuable by making an effort to serve society and the people. No able-bodied person should be allowed to take advantage of the work of others and it is the responsibility of the state to ensure that no one is unemployed and, if necessary, to train and retrain individuals to cope with new tasks.

For example, a factory worker who develops shoulder problems should be retrained for another suitable profession instead of being retired on disability, as should a company manager who "walks into a wall". A person who has no legs should be put into work that he or she can handle, as should someone who has a mental disability. Anyone who does not work due to laziness or unwillingness is outside society's social safety net.

This approach, where everyone contributes their share, could also, together with technological developments, make shorter working days possible. Shorter working days would mean that citizens would have more free time to engage in community life, spend time with family, create culture, etc., which would increase the well-being of the people and also benefit society as a whole.

A reconciliation must be achieved between employers and employees through statutory rights and obligations for the latter rather than sector-specific and employer organization or union-negotiated ones. What is best for the well-being of the whole people must be the guideline, not what is best for the individual group.
Elected representatives at each workplace work together with the company manager to achieve the best possible community in the workplace. An authority is established to support the rights of workers but also employers and intervenes in cases of conflicts of interest. The rights of the worker should be comprehensive.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Give all able-bodied people a job.
- Create a new authority (cf. the Public Employment Service) with exclusive responsibility to find the right jobs for the right people.
- Ensure that flexible pathways are created for people who need to be trained or retrained for their own and society's needs.
- Abolish unemployment benefits for those who absolutely do not want to work.

Machine Translated by Google

- Statutory obligations and rights for employees and employers instead of letting different industry-specific unions and employer organizations negotiate different individual conditions.

- Establish an authority that ensures cooperation between workers and employers and monitors their rights and obligations.

- Strive to introduce a six-hour workday.

Social safety net and general welfare

Just as the state has a responsibility to offer work to all those who are able to work, the state must also be able to take care of those who are not able to work. Those who are sick or injured so seriously that they cannot work at all must have the support from society that is needed to still be able to have a tolerable and dignified life.

Welfare and the social safety net must never become a class issue but must apply to all people regardless of income. A large budget must be allocated to ensure that sports and health, care and welfare maintain the highest possible standards.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Provide all citizens who are not able to work or who are unable to be retrained, in the short or long term, with a contribution that allows them to have the same quality of life as if they were working.

- Introduce free medical and dental care for all citizens. We will also offer regular basic health checks to prevent ill health in time.

- Ensure that recreational and sports activities that are considered beneficial for public health, the idea of a people's community or the people's education are reduced in price according to income down to almost completely free of charge for those with lower incomes.

Public interest

In some industries, competition and free enterprise can clearly be beneficial, but in many other areas that can be considered beneficial to all, profit must never take precedence over quality, ethics and human factors. A

Machine Translated by Google

A state whose mission is to serve its people may have a completely different sense of responsibility and future than an individual company with greater profit requirements. For example, a state-owned bank could offer interest-free loans, a state-owned media outlet could be free of advertising, and a state-owned bus company could operate routes in rural areas that a privately owned company would not see as lucrative enough. Furthermore, state ownership ensures that healthcare, education, and social care never become a class issue where only the most well-off can get the best, but instead where all citizens are treated equally.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Reclaiming power over public interests from profit-making to the state hungry investors.

Private enterprise

Although the state is in most respects a guarantor of long-termism and responsibility, there are industries that the state should not interfere in, where it is instead more favorable for the people with a free entrepreneurial spirit. The Nordic Resistance Movement wants to see a strong entrepreneurial and innovative spirit in the Nordic countries and that as much production and trade as possible is kept within the Nordic borders. Small and local companies are encouraged through favorable conditions.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Introduce tariffs on non-Nordic goods that can instead be produced within The Nordic countries.

- Subsidize organic, locally produced and environmentally friendly products ter.

- Make it easier for small and local businesses to compete with large companies through tax breaks and other measures.

- Make it financially sensible for companies that choose to move their production outside the Nordic borders.

- Ensure that the state and municipality always support through their procurements local Nordic companies with sound values.

Machine Translated by Google

Research, innovative spirit, art and cultural work

Research, innovations, art and high-quality cultural works are something that historically really distinguished the Nordic racial type compared to many other peoples. Without our own and other Western people's achievements and genius in these areas, the human race would have stopped developing many centuries ago. The state must take advantage of this creative power and encourage it in the future as well.

The great inventors, discoverers, artists, writers, poets and composers in history have not been primarily driven by a profit motive but instead a desire to make the world a better and more pleasant place and to improve the lives of the people and raise their level of consciousness. We must find our way back to this spirit in order to truly be able to progress in these areas again.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Allocate large funds to research aimed at improving public health, the environment, the armed forces and criminology with the aim of preventing crime. Research that provides increased understanding of the universe and the laws of nature should also be encouraged.

- Issue scholarships or other grants to private individuals who, on their own initiative, help advance public benefit research.

- Create research and innovation centers where the state, universities and Companies come together to educate and create a platform for enterprising and intelligent citizens to participate and drive development forward.

- Pay a citizen's salary to promising artists, writers, composers, musicians, filmmakers and other culturally active people.

School and education

The school curriculum today, especially during the first years of school, has become too broad with a lot of unnecessary knowledge while large parts of extremely important knowledge are lost. Much of what is taught in school is forgotten in adulthood, let alone people actually benefit from it during their lifetime. Those who actually benefit from special knowledge in specific subjects can learn this later in life after a more individual adaptation.

Machine Translated by Google

One of the goals of the school must be to give all students a basic general education and important basic knowledge, but almost as important is the school's role as a character-forming institution. The school must educate the young generation in the idea of the national community and lay the foundation for adult life in the National Socialist society. The students must learn to become decisive, responsible and strong-willed and with a great understanding of nature and its laws.

Our people are becoming more and more sedentary and it starts at an early age when TV and computers make up a large part of the young people's free time. As a counterbalance to this, schools must spend more lesson hours on sports as well as on outdoor activities and field studies in the forest and land.

One problem we have with today's school is that it has become a run-of-the-mill institution where teachers lack all authority and where students are allowed to participate in deciding how teaching should be designed. This not only leads to an unsustainable school environment but also creates sloppy, characterless and egocentric individuals. Discipline must be reintroduced in the classrooms and the authority of teachers strengthened. In line with this, we also want to reintroduce order grades from the first grade to shape students who follow the rules of order, are good schoolmates, are present and cooperative.
Discipline and good grades in school will also result in a stress-free study environment, which is a prerequisite for the student to be able to reach their full potential.

All students must receive the resources and help they need to develop according to their individual circumstances. Both students who are struggling in school and particularly gifted students must be able to develop according to their needs with the right teaching.

In order to truly be able to provide the help needed for those who are having difficulty in school and at the same time be able to take advantage of the potential of the more talented students, we will introduce a division by knowledge level already in middle school.
The initial division should of course be able to be changed depending on the students' future results. So-called bullying will drastically decrease in a society built on community. The more talented students will be taught that they have an extra responsibility to be humble towards those with lower potential.

As part of the idea of a people's community, a voluntary work service should also be introduced after military service. In this, the man or woman is allowed to do work practice for at least six months with hard work in the service of the people, such as road construction, mining, home service, forestry, agriculture, etc., so that regardless of class status, they can learn what it is like to work with their hands. Having completed the work service becomes a requirement for gaining access to the country's colleges and universities or for being allowed to become a government employee in any way. Anyone who works intellectually must have understanding and respect for the hardships and living conditions of other people.

Machine Translated by Google

The employment service would counteract the class contempt we see today between manual and intellectual workers.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Replace the school's "democratic" indoctrination with a national social alistic values where character formation, the idea of community and a great respect for nature and its laws are implemented from a young age.

- Introduce teaching hours for sports and spend more educational time outdoors in nature. This instead of teaching that the majority of students actually have no real use for in real life.

- Introduce a division by knowledge level.

- Reintroducing order grades from the first grade and strengthening teachers' authority the rite.

- Ensure that education from high school onwards becomes more vocationally and individually oriented through increased work and contact with study counselors

- Introduce a voluntary work service with at least six months of practicing hard manual labor. In order to gain access to the country's colleges, universities, or to become a government employee, a requirement will be introduced to have completed the work service with a passing grade.

Family policy and the role of women

Today's liberal democracy promotes a career mindset where both men and women sacrifice many things that are important. In the case of women, it is about sacrificing children and family. Many women who want to be at home with their children are forced into working life too early. Others do not have children at all because they feel they have to choose between family and career.

Of course, we don't want to chain women to the stove, and we are not part of any

Machine Translated by Google

so-called patriarchal structure where women are seen as a threat to men. Nothing could be further from the truth because we are as big opponents of this type of male chauvinism as we are of feminism. Feminism does the same thing as male chauvinism, that is, it sets men and women against each other - instead of as nature created them, as a complement to each other.
Both of these currents of thought not only pose a threat to the community, but have also resulted in mental ill health among our women being higher than ever.

Our image of women is not inspired by any desert religion but derives directly from the natural and egalitarian view that our Nordic ancestors had.
In accordance with this Nordic view, the natural role of women as the ultimate provider of family unity and well-being must be emphasized. Women should of course be able to work, but society and the media must make it clear that it is not a requirement to do so if one chooses family instead. There is nothing wrong with focusing on being a good mother to a large family rather than pursuing a career in the workforce. The Nordic woman must be respected – something that no other movement does today – and the status of mothers in society must be raised.

In many professional groups in the Nordic countries today, the best man or woman is not chosen to do a job. Instead, quality suffers from a kind of upside-down equality doctrine that results in less suitable people being quotas. This must of course end. There are professions that are generally better suited to women and others that are better suited to men. No woman should be banned from working as, for example, a firefighter and no man should be banned from working as a nurse, but in such cases they should be given the position because they are best suited for the job and with exactly the same requirements as the other sex would have had. Of course, equal pay for equal work applies.

Cultural Marxism, in which feminism plays a central role, promotes an anti-people and anti-family stance, which has led those who want to sow division between the sexes to also take on gay issues with the aim of destroying the so-called heteronorm – that is, the natural structure of every healthy society. The influential gay lobby has made homosexuality something completely normal and in many cases desirable in debate. the climate in culture and media. One example of this is that the people's so-called representatives participate in "Pride marches", another is that homosexuals are now considered a separate ethnic group in a legal sense, something that ethnic Swedes or heterosexuals do not. A healthy and well-functioning family, seen as natural and in the best interests of the children, is of course formed by a man and a woman. This basis must shine through in the social debate. Marriage and adoption are strictly prohibited

Machine Translated by Google

This natural constellation has been maintained. However, we see no need to criminalize homosexuals as long as they do not manifest their deviant orientation in words and actions.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Strengthen women's role in society as the person most responsible for family women's well-being without forcing women out of the labor market for that reason.

- Double the duration of parental benefit and raise the minimum compensation level to 100% of what the woman would have earned by working instead. All requirements for reservation days for the father are removed so that the woman can choose to stay home with the child during the entire period.

- Offer free childcare when needed. Preschools should focus on outdoor activities to an even greater extent than schools.

- Increase child allowance and large-child allowance.

- Ensure that quotas based on gender, origin or sexual orientation are prohibited. laying.

- Exalt the natural family ideal between a man and a woman. Ban marriage and adoption by homosexual couples.

- Criminalize the gay lobby and other propaganda against natural constellations.

- Ban homosexuality in public spaces.

Pension

Today, many older people are forced to work even though they are sick and weak, and once they retire, a struggle begins to keep the economy going. In many cases, unemployed immigrant foreigners have a better economy than those who have lived and worked their entire lives in this country.

Being able to receive reasonable compensation on the day you are no longer able to work due to age and infirmity is a given. When this happens is something highly individual and very much depends on how you have lived your life. The national pension will be the most important part and citizens should not feel were forced to resort to private savings to get by in their old age.

Machine Translated by Google

To be eligible for the national pension, you must be a citizen of the Nordic countries.
For a full pension, you must live within the Nordic borders.

We will also establish a state pensioners' organization, alongside the non-profit ones, where pensioners can still work for society, albeit on a voluntary basis and in easy forms. This is so that the elderly can still feel useful to society, socialize with other elderly people and so that society can benefit from their collective knowledge as a resource. This pensioners' organization will also work to ensure that the age generations can meet through special activities organized by schools and preschools. This way of meeting will contribute to increasing cohesion, joy of life and community for old and young.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Increase the national pension so that private savings are not needed. The word "poor pensioner" will be unknown to future generations.

- Establish a state pensioners' organization where pensioners can continue to work for society on a voluntary basis.

Fiscal policy

Many people today see the state as something evil that they do everything they can to keep away and all forms of taxation from the state as theft. When it is like today that our tax money goes to mass immigration, EU fees and politicians' high salaries, it is a very healthy view not to want to contribute to it. In the Nordic Resistance Movement's vision, however, the state is an important part of the people's community.
the idea. The state in the new Nordic region is part of this community of people and the extended arm of the people in that the state's primary goal is to work for the well-being and preservation of the people. To steal from or cheat the state is therefore the same as to steal from or cheat oneself, one's own family and one's own people.

Contributing to the well-being of the people by paying taxes to this state is therefore not something that can be seen as wrong or strange – quite the opposite. The tax rate in the country should of course not be unnecessarily high in any way, as the state has no profit interest in itself, but the tax should be in relation to the state's expenditure. When the Nordic countries come

Machine Translated by Google

By being disconnected from the current financial system that has plundered us for a long time, we will be able to have an overall lower tax burden than today.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Manage finances in such a way that the average person will have a more welcoming view of paying taxes.

- Lower taxes while strengthening public services, welfare and the social safety net.

Machine Translated by Google

8.

Reinstate general conscription and expand defense. Everyone who has completed their military service will keep their weapons and equipm Every citizen should be able to contribute to the defense of the nation against both external and possible domestic threats.

It goes without saying that a state must be able to defend itself from foreign threats. It becomes even more obvious if we look at our world and see the enormous problems it is grappling with, allowing us to speculate on how things could get worse in the future.

The Earth's resources are not infinite and sooner or later predatory states and other interests will force themselves to take resources from those who cannot defend themselves.
Such wars are already raging and will certainly increase in the future.

This is an inevitable development with a dwindling global oil supply and a rapid population increase. It may be mentioned in this context that the planet's population in the 1960s amounted to approximately three billion and has, in other words, more than doubled since then. It may also be mentioned that even serious analysts warned several years ago of peak oil production (in English "Peak Oil"). In other words, the future looks bleak for the state that cannot militarily defend its assets.

A strong Nordic region against foreign threats

The independent Nordic countries are currently weak. So weak that great powers could easily occupy us militarily. Even if the Nordic military powers joined forces today, their military capabilities would still not come close to matching those of the US or the rest of the EU.

The National Socialist Nordic region also faces a further challenge that must not be overlooked. The forces that govern our world today are the same hateful forces that defeated Germany in 1945 through a worldwide alliance. We cannot rule out that these Zionist forces will use force to try to quell any attempts at National Socialist uprisings if they judge that we lack the ability to defend ourselves.

We must therefore clearly show an overpopulated and partly hostile world that a united Nordic region is fully prepared to defend itself by all means.

Machine Translated by Google

their borders. We must not only make this clear to the outside world, we must also show it to the people of the Nordic countries. In other words, we will not just say that “our preparedness is good”, we will rally the people to ensure that we have the military capacity to defend ourselves.

The Nordic region must also have an offensive capability to, if necessary, intervene at short notice in our immediate area and/or have the ability to help the well-being of others. states with closely related peoples against common enemies. The offensive capability is not intended to be used lightly but should in extraordinary cases, and on good grounds, be able to be used preventively against threats that may affect the Nordic population in the long term.

This requires a standing army with the best trained professional soldiers and officers, as well as the best equipment the kingdom can produce. In the event of an external threat to the Nordic region, these soldiers can form the backbone of the command when the conscripted reserves need to be called up.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Reinstate universal conscription and extend the period of conscription to at least two years.
- Strengthen and modernize military defense.
- Provide women with basic military training for a shorter period of time with the opportunity to voluntarily undergo the same period of military service as men.
- Ensure that men and women are reminded and updated on their ability to defend the Nordic region after completing their service (cf. Rep Month).
- Build an offensive capability to be able to intervene in our immediate area at short notice, if necessary.
- Normalize the idea of life as a soldier and encourage military careers.
- Offer young boys and girls the opportunity to become familiar with the armed forces at an early age. This is done by the young people visiting military facilities and learning about and respecting soldier life.

Machine Translated by Google

• Give the collective Nordic intelligentsia much larger funding for military research and development.

One man, one gun
The Nordic Resistance Movement will ensure that the men and women who have completed their military service are also allowed to keep and care for their weapons in civilian life.
A healthy population should not have to fear its rulers, healthy rulers need not fear their population. In the new Nordic region, there will be great trust between the people and their leaders. The leadership of the united Nordic region will not only sleep safely with an armed population - it will sleep more securely.
Everyone will know that enemies of the North must first face a people ready to defend their state with their own weapons.

In the US, shootings and sometimes outright massacres are commonplace, and critics say that the US's liberal gun laws are the cause. However, this is a flawed analysis. A healthy, homogeneous Nordic population cannot, in all honesty, be compared to the multicultural parts of North America with sky-high crime rates. A better comparison would be Switzerland, which also has very liberal gun laws but significantly lower crime rates. Switzerland must still, despite the country's relatively stable state, be seen as unstable in relation to the state we will create.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

• Ensure that everyone who has completed their military service also manages their service weapon in civilian life, but of course the right to possess the weapon is revoked if it is handled irresponsibly.

• Give citizens the legal right to emergency protection in their homes even with their military weapons.

Civil defense In the event of various types of disasters, such as maritime accidents, forest fires or environmental accidents, the future Nordic region must be able to handle the crises that arise much better than today. A well-functioning rescue service is a prerequisite for this. We must ensure that, for example, fire brigades and maritime rescue services do not lack resources. Such resources must also have the capacity to be deployed in crisis situations outside the Nordic region if so desired by the affected party.

Machine Translated by Google

If a disaster is particularly extensive, trained military forces and conscripts can be deployed to support existing personnel.

The task of the Civil Defense is also to continuously train citizens in accident management such as First Aid, CPR and fire safety.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Expand civil defense.
- Have the capacity to mobilize our military forces for disaster relief.
- Be prepared to help our environment in the event of a major disaster disaster.
- Continuously educate citizens in accident management.

Machine Translated by Google

9.

Establish a state of law where all citizens are equal before the law. Trained lawyers shall judge in the courts. A people's court shall be established for the purpose of trying the difficult cases of treason.

“We must defend democracy” is a phrase that every politician and journalist loyal to the system utters from time to time. In reality, Sweden is not a democracy but a democracy where freedom of opinion formally exists, but where in practice there is repression of opinion that is often hidden and affects those who challenge the doctrines of power. We live in a system where citizens are different before the law, where there is great legal uncertainty and where citizens can be ostracized, socially stigmatized or lose their jobs if they do not support “multiculturalism”, “equal value of all people” and other anti-people ideas.

The Nordic Resistance Movement wants to introduce the rule of law that was originally formulated in the constitution and, through a people's court, neutralize the body of traitors who have suppressed opinions against other citizens and betrayed their own people.

As for other crime in society, many mistakes are made by the current system. The recidivism statistics for certain crimes are high, as many prisons are in practice nurseries for criminal careers. Those who are poor and outcasts from society see few opportunities to rise up without going beyond the pale of the law. The solution to the problems is the community of people we are going to build, preventive measures to prevent crime and good rehabilitation in our prisons. We are aware that there is a conflict of interest between the state and the victim of crime, as the latter often sees the matter personally out of a desire for revenge, while a state must see it from a larger perspective where resources must be used for the good of the entire people.

Equality before the law

In today's democracy, racial aliens, but also religious and sexual minorities, are more worthy of protection than other citizens, despite the fact that the constitution clearly states that equality before the law is one of the foundations of the state. Ethnic Nordic residents, especially those who fight for the survival of their people or express criticism of mass immigration, are punished more severely than others. The rule of law is thus out of play and legal arbitrariness permeates the legal processes. The rubber paragraph on incitement against an ethnic group, which is in practice a racial law that is directly aimed at the Swedish people, with special protection for offended minorities, must be abolished on the basis that it is unconstitutional. The Nordic Resistance Movement wants to reintroduce the principles of the rule of law and equality before the law.

Machine Translated by Google

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Ensure that all citizens – regardless of origin, political or religious belief – on equal terms have the right to freedom of expression, freedom of assembly and a fair trial in court. All citizens in the free Nordic countries shall be considered equal before the law.

- Prohibit discrimination and quotas in the workplace – so-called "positive discrimination".

- Abolish the law on incitement against ethnic groups. Laws that prohibit threats, insults, slander, etc. can instead be applied to all citizens.

Impartial administrative authorities and courts

In Sweden, there is a centuries-old principle of objectivity, enshrined in the Constitution, which requires administrative authorities to take into account the equality of all before the law and objectivity and impartiality in the exercise of their authority. However, administrative authorities that violate the Constitution are never prosecuted when they openly take a political stance for so-called multiculturalism, increased immigration or demonstrate in homopolitical demonstrations such as "Pride".

In addition to the constitutional violations that these authorities get away with, we cannot speak of independent courts because politicians are the judges in the courts. Every citizen must feel secure that the judiciary carries out fair trials and that administrative authorities do not represent their own political interests.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Create a state of law where the legislative power is separated from the executive executive power. In plain language, this means that laws are made by a popularly elected parliament, but that these laws are then applied by independent courts and state administration without interference from any other authority.

- In accordance with the principles of the rule of law, abolish the current mention-

Machine Translated by Google

Only trained lawyers, not politicians, are allowed to judge in our courts.

- Ensure that authorities do not take ideological political positions within the framework of their exercise of authority. A government official, let alone the entire authority, may not take a political position while in uniform or in any other way that shows affiliation with this authority. An individual government official can of course take a political position privately if it clearly occurs outside the person's area of activity.

- Ensure that authorities and government organizations do not take a position on political issues unless it is clearly stated and specifically motivated that it is part of their area of activity. Exceptions are, for example, organizations with special responsibility for public education, such as schools whose operations will be based on National Socialist values.

Laws against anti-people sentiment

The Nordic Resistance Movement advocates people's democracy, not liberal democracy. The free Nordics will protect the individual's freedom of expression, but at the same time make it clear to everyone that freedoms are not unconditional but will be exempted if they are abused to conduct anti-people activities. In a conflict of interest, the people's freedom, sovereignty and the very right to survival will be valued higher than the individual's freedom. We, along with others, cannot allow the free Nordics, with its extensive freedom of expression and assembly, to be abused by hostile forces that work for the people's downfall.

Anti-people sentiment must be prohibited and serious cases severely punished. The serious cases of treason will be tried by a new court, the Nordic People's Court. This People's Court will also take over high and national treason cases, since these constitute a crime against both the realm and its inhabitants. Crimes of treason, high and national treason will be taken very seriously.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- In line with the creation of laws against anti-people propaganda, also ensure that organizing genocide against the Nordic peoples becomes illegal. This means that associations that actively promote mass immigration, racial mixing, and other forms of genocide may be prosecuted.

Machine Translated by Google

- Establish a People's Court to deal with particularly serious cases of treason. All those in positions of influence and power who have decided on, carried out or defended the ongoing genocide of the Nordic peoples will be examined by this court, as will those who do so in the future. Those convicted by the People's Court and deemed incapable of rehabilitation will also lose their citizenship.

- Take the high treason and treason cases seriously. Those who, with foreign aid or other illegal means, try to subjugate the country

  A foreign power commits a crime against national security and shall be punished accordingly. Acts where those in power attend secret meetings where decisions are made with foreign interests in mind and without public insight, or even knowledge, are to be considered high treason.

Crime and punishment

The Nordic Resistance Movement recognizes that much of the work to reduce crime in society is related to completely different things than sentencing rates and the number of police officers available on the streets. The more unfairly distributed society's resources are and the greater class differences that exist, the more crime also increases.

It is also not irrelevant that the global power elite actually wants to create unrest and crime in society in order to use it as a cover, in order to build up the surveillance big brother society that is increasingly taking shape, without the people's protest. An unsupervised park, however, does not create a criminal individual. It is not always the opportunity that creates the thief, but instead most often the morality and spirit of society. A criminal state breeds criminal individuals.

In a healthy and prosperous society, where people's community prevails and mass immigration does not exist, crime will also decrease. People do not steal from their families and do not create disorder in their own homes. In a state with a strong people's community, the people are an extension of one's family and the Nordic countries are one's home.

However, eradicating crime completely is a naive vision and therefore we must also have a criminal policy. National Socialism does not necessarily mean that there should be harsher punishments, but we do see that certain types of crimes should be given a higher penalty. Examples of this type of crime are where the victim is at a significant physical or mental disadvantage and thus unable to defend himself against the perpetrator, as is always the case with crimes against children, animals and our elderly, for example. In addition to this and the previously mentioned crime of treason, serious sexual and drug crimes should also be given higher sentences.

Machine Translated by Google

It is irresponsible for a state to release “monsters” into society. It is also inhumane for a state to keep someone locked up their entire life. Serial killer, pedophile
Those who have committed serious crimes, drug dealers who have spread deadly poison to hundreds of people, etc. have, in our view, exhausted their right and freedom to live. Although the death penalty is irreversible, we must be able to apply it to particularly ruthless and serious crimes. When the evidence is truly considered to be beyond all reasonable doubt, the crime should be punishable by death. In order for the death penalty to not be abused or become arbitrary, the Nordic Senate must confirm such a judgment from the court before it becomes legally binding.

Today's prison system is in many ways a failure and being in prison is more about detention than rehabilitation. We should not use prison to consolidate the place of the convicted outside society, but instead ensure that a prison sentence has as rehabilitative an effect as possible so that once the individual has served their sentence they have a fair chance at a new life.

Anyone who serves a prison sentence should be allowed to work hard to atone for their crime, but also know that when they get out there is somewhere to go, that work and housing are available and that any financial debts and payment arrears have been worked off already during the period of detention. Anyone who has served their sentence should also have received therapeutic help, been educated, received useful lessons for the future and been made to understand what the idea of the people's community is all about. This will minimize the risk of relapse and thus benefit society as a whole.

We also want great importance to be placed on criminological research to prevent crime and also to provide psychiatric care with the necessary resources. We also believe in a greater proportion of open prisons with compulsory work, preferably agriculture and forestry, where prisoners can actually benefit both themselves and society at large.

The Nordic Resistance Movement will:

- Create a society characterized by healthy values and community which leads to reduced crime.

Machine Translated by Google

- Protect personal privacy instead of creating a surveillance society halibut.

- Increase the penalty for crimes against children, animals and our elderly, as well as for serious sexual and drug crimes

- Introduce the death penalty for particularly ruthless and serious crimes when the proof is truly considered to be beyond all reasonable doubt.

- Give those who have served their sentence the opportunity for a new life free from debt and criticism and with the knowledge to be able to do the work that awaits them.

- Increase the proportion of open institutions with compulsory work.

- Place great emphasis on criminological research to prevent crime small.

- Provide psychiatric care with the necessary resources and ensure that they really treats their patients instead of prescribing happy pills.

Machine Translated by Google

Afterword

At the time of writing, tens of thousands of racial aliens are pouring into the Nordic countries
IN every week, which will already lead to enormous problems for our people in the short term.
There may be those who, in these grim times, believe that our time and resources should be spent on something other than writing a political program. However, these potential critics are completely wror

The national movement in the Nordic countries has in recent decades largely only managed to attract activists consisting of young angry men. In recent years in general and in recent months in particular, it has been noticeable that interest in our ideas is broadening as more and more "ordinary" people choose to join us. The average age of those applying for membership is getting higher and women make up an increasingly high proportion. So we are not receiving fewer applications from young men than before, but only significantly more applications overall, and the increase is not only made up of even more young men.

This increase in people seeking us out and from a broader range of people is absolutely crucial to whether we can achieve success for our cause and really get somewhere. I am absolutely convinced that this publication will be an important part of the work to get there. Many of these "ordinary" people are heavily influenced by the propaganda myth surrounding "Nazism" and who they are who champion its ideals. In this publication, everyone, regardless of prejudice, will know in black and white and completely uncensored what we really want to achieve.

I am, after discussions with thousands of people on the streets and squares all over the country, absolutely certain that a great many people in the Nordic countries are sympathetic to the political ideas put forward in this document. This bullet point program, in which we present our path, is therefore highly necessary and comes at exactly the right time!

It has been an interesting, but at times very hectic time writing this program, as it has involved hundreds, perhaps even thousands, of hours of work. Many late nights of research, discussions and writing have been required. However, it has been worth the effort, because what you now hold in your hand is something much more than a party's point program – it is a new policy for a new era – National Socialism in the 21st century.

We who have written the content are well aware that not all possible detailed questions are answered and that there may be question marks left about certain things after you have read this program. Our intention has also not been to go into detail in order to

Machine Translated by Google

to explain everything, but instead we have consciously chosen to paint with a broader brush. In the future, now that we have laid the foundation with this party program, we have every opportunity to release several supplementary writings and political material that can explain both the problem picture and solutions to various things even more clearly.

We also fully understand if you do not agree with exactly everything you have read. It is even the case that some of those who have worked on this political program have disagreed on a few minor points. There is nothing wrong with that, on the contrary, it is healthy and completely natural for us humans to have different opinions about things. The same is also true of all somewhat more extensive ideological writings. For example, there are probably many Democrats who cannot stand behind every word of their respective political programs or, for that matter, several Germans who did not 100% agree with everything that was in the NSDAP.

To let these minor differences of opinion be an excuse for not joining the fight is just egocentric. If you can stand behind most of what is written in this program and agree that the survival and freedom of our people is worth something, then you should also join our fight. We can debate any detailed issues in the new Nordic region after we have averted the most acute threats and liberated our people from Zionism and sent home the strangers who do not belong here.

The Nordic Resistance Movement is the only organization in the entire Nordic region that is ready for the challenges of the future. Our political aspirations are clearly stated in this political program. What is missing now are more women and men ready to do their bit to bring victory to our cause. That is where you, who are reading this, come in. If you are not already part of the Resistance Movement, then make sure to join. Do it today, because tomorrow there may not be any Nordic countries left to liberate!

Simon Lindberg, 2015-11-

Machine Translated by Google

Personal notes

Machine Translated by Google

Personal notes

Machine Translated by Google

Latest release link:

© 2015 Nordic Resistance Movement

Machine Translated by Google

NORDIC RESISTANCE MOVEMENT